REFLECTION

KRUPA PATIL Grade - 10

This week was a whirlwind of activity, marked by the intense preparation for Grade 10 mock exams that demanded tireless effort day and night. At the same time, the excitement of preparing for IIMUN added a sense of purpose and joy, as I look forward to being a part of the event and learning new things from the experience. To add to the festive spirit, we also decorated for Christmas and listened to carols, truly immersing ourselves in the holiday vibe with Christmas just around the corner. Amid all this, the delicious food provided much-needed comfort and relief, making the week a mix of stress, joy, and festivity.

REFLECTION

Nandeesh

Grade 7

Hi, I am Nandeesh, and today I will be sharing my reflection on the week. It was filled with fun and curiosity!

This week went by normally, just like every other week, but there was something very exciting. Before I get to that, let me share some news. Everyone was really kind to the sports department, our teachers, the dining staff, and the house parents.

Now, for the main highlight: the upcoming IIMUN (International Indian Movement to the United Nations). It is a major event focused on debates where we will discuss ways to improve and develop the world. This is incredibly exciting for all of us!

Thank you!

REFLECTION

SAIHEJBIR Grade11

The week was quite simple and somewhat boring. Regular classes were conducted, but sports time was enjoyable, especially when we played volleyball with the teachers on Tuesday. In the mornings, we had sports sessions, which were very fun. During school hours, we followed the usual routine, but the time spent in boarding after school was always fun with friends.

The food served this week was very nice and better than before. We are also preparing for the upcoming IIMUN event, and all the students are working hard for it. This event offers a great opportunity for students to meet peers from different schools, socialize, and gain exposure, which will help build our portfolios. On Friday, we had LEDR classes, which focused on the core values of our school: love, empathy, discipline, and respect. We watched a movie about these values, which helped us understand and improve them.

Saturday included extra classes, which provided an opportunity to strengthen our academics. Overall, the week was enjoyable and filled with learning.
